Our Personalized IVF Process

1. Initial Consultation and Assessment

- Your IVF journey begins with a comprehensive consultation, where we evaluate your medical history and discuss your fertility goals.
- A series of diagnostic tests will help identify the underlying cause of infertility and guide your treatment plan.

2. Ovarian Stimulation and Monitoring

- Personalized ovarian stimulation protocols are developed to help you produce healthy eggs for retrieval.
- Our team closely monitors hormone levels and follicle development, adjusting medication as needed for optimal results.

3. Egg Retrieval and Fertilization

- The next step involves retrieving eggs from your ovaries, followed by fertilization with sperm in our advanced lab.
- We offer options such as Intracytoplasmic Sperm Injection (ICSI) for male infertility or genetic testing for embryo health.

4. Embryo Culture and Transfer

- Embryos are cultured and carefully monitored before being selected for transfer to your uterus.
- Our embryologists ensure that the healthiest embryos are chosen for transfer, and we use blastocyst transfer when appropriate for higher success rates.

5. Pregnancy Testing and Ongoing Care

- After embryo transfer, we conduct blood tests to determine if you're pregnant, and continue monitoring your progress throughout the early stages of pregnancy.
- We provide emotional support and medical guidance during this crucial time, ensuring you feel cared for and informed.

Additional Personalized Services

- Preimplantation Genetic Testing (PGT)

- PGT allows us to screen embryos for genetic disorders, improving the chances of a healthy pregnancy.
- This option is available for patients who have a family history of genetic conditions or are over 35 years old.

- We offer egg and sperm freezing for individuals who want to preserve fertility for the future, whether due to medical reasons or personal choice.
